Germans Concentrate Heavy Reinforcements On Moscow Front

(International News Service)
KUIBYSHEV, Dec. 6.—The Communist newspaper Pravda reported today that a Soviet offensive is developing on the Klin sector, north-west of Moscow.

The paper said the Germans have concentrated another tank division, a mechanized division and two infantry divisions on the Moscow front.

South of the capital, Pravda admitted, the Germans have reached the Tula-Moscow railroad and captured a number of villages.

The paper said German counter-attacks in the Mozhaisk sector west of Moscow were repulsed and that an enemy infantry battalion was annihilated at the village of "M."

Cavalry Advances

It added that Soviet cavalry were continuing to advance at Stalingrad, south of Moscow, and that German forces there were retreating southward.

Meanwhile Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's southern armies smashed incessantly at retreating German armies today after recapturing the town of Kuibyshevo, 50 miles northwest of Mariupol on the Sea of Azov.

Simultaneously, German assaults on the blood-stained Moscow front were declared to have been halted in their tracks. The Russian high command said.

Huge Scale Bombing Of Germany Nearing

(BULLETIN)
NEWCASTLE, Eng., Dec. 6.—A declaration that Britain's R. A. F. will bomb Germany on a scale surpassing anything yet seen was made today by Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair in an address at Newcastle.

"The last war ended in France," he said. "This war must end in Germany. Air, sea and land forces must work together in flexible cooperation to this end."

"We intend using bombing on a scale and efficiency that surpass anything achieved hitherto."

"Our bombers are laying siege to the entire German military machine and we already are undermining its foundations."

Three More Nations Are Declared Enemies Of British In War

No Satisfactory Reply Received To Ultimatums Says Britain

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Great Britain declared war on Finland, Rumania and Hungary today and began rounding up nationals of the three nations in the British Isles.

In London, Scotland Yard officers using fast squad cars rounded up about 200 Finns, Hungarians and Rumanians in the capital district and took them to a clearing center.

From there they will be sent to internment camps after the usual investigation by aliens' tribunals.

Britain declared war in reprisal for the refusal of the three nations to cease attacks on Russia.

The government acted immediately after expiration of the time limit stipulated in communications sent to Helsinki, Budapest and Bucharest. The time limit expired at midnight.

Received Calmly

The British declaration of war against Germany's three military allies today was met with calm by the German public.

U.S.S. Reuben James Survivor Reaches His Home Here For Visit

Fred P. Zapasnik, one of the 45 surviving crew members of the U. S. S. Reuben James, sunk by a Nazi torpedo in an attack near Iceland October 31, arrived at the home of his father, William Zapasnik, 108 Chartes street, this morning.

Zapasnik was granted a furlough at the Brooklyn Navy Yard on Thursday and went directly to Boston where he was joined by his wife and two-year-old daughter who accompanied him to New Castle.

In Water 45 Minutes

In telling of the torpedoing of his ship, Zapasnik related the story of a harrowing and awful night. He told of clinging to a life raft, and being partly submerged in icy water for 45 minutes before being picked up by another destroyer.

The local youth holds the rank of first class shipfitter and was in charge of the shipfitting crew aboard the Reuben James. Just before the boat was struck by a torpedo, Zapasnik states he left the ship.

Senators To Demand Knox And Stimson Tell U.S. 'War Plans'

By WILLIAM S. SEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Using the $8,200,000,000 arms and lend-lease bill as a vehicle, senate non-interventionists today launched a drive to force the administration to bare its future "war plans" of democracies' program and say whether a second A. E. F. is planned.

The plan was disclosed as the senate appropriations committee was summoned into session to consider means of speeding action on the huge arms bill, which passed the house late yesterday by a vote of 309 to 5.

Will Ask Information

Sen. Gerald Nye, N. D., ranking Republican on the appropriations committee, announced that he would propose that Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox be summoned to bare "war plans" of the administration.

The North Dakota senator also indicated that he will ask that the report of the joint army and navy board, said to include a potential plan for an A. E. F. of 5,000,000 men, be disclosed.

"We ought to know where we are going," said Nye. "We should know whether an A. E. F. is being planned, how much money it is planned to give other nations under lend-lease, and the ultimate cost of the program—if there is an end."

"We should know how big an army is sought and where it is to be used. If those who have been telling us

Will Accord Tribute For 20 Years Service Of Coach Bridenbaugh

Tonight at 6 o'clock in the Cathedral dining room, Philip H. Bridenbaugh, head coach of the New Castle Senior High school for 20 years will be honored with a testimonial banquet. A check early today indicated a crowd of approximately 750.

For the past three weeks a number of committees headed by James L. Stone as general chairman and B. N. Hanlon as secretary-treasurer have been busy with the details of the banquet and every indication today was that their work and the work of the committees would be crowned with success.

The two principal speakers for the banquet, Coach Bob Higgins of Penn State and Coach Benny Friedman of the City College of New York were due to arrive in New Castle early this afternoon. Both of them will be heard tonight and with their records as players and as coaches the crowd is due for some interesting football anecdotes.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Roses have been blooming continuously since summer in the yard on the northeast corner of Highland and Wallace avenues.

William G. Braatz, of 412 Croton avenue, returned from Potter County, Friday afternoon, concluding a successful deer hunting trip, bringing back a splendid seven point buck.

Alertness and presence of mind on the part of a street car operator averted a head-on crash with an automobile, Friday evening, in the 300 block of East Washington street. An auto proceeding toward the car was forced into the latter's path when another auto pulled out from the curb. The operator immediately applied the brake and reversed the power, bringing the car to a sudden stop. The car was crowded to the doors with passengers.

During this hunting season, there are less deer being brought back than last year. It is the opinion of Tom Alexander of Phillips street, a well-known hunter, that one reason for this is that with the mild weather that has prevailed, the deer had plenty of food available. They can feed leisurely in the evening, not having far to travel, and may keep hidden in the daytime. This condition necessitates much beating of bushes and locating the hideouts and resting places. With snow and

Founder Of Hall Of Baseball Fame Is Visitor Here

William Beattie, Of Cooperstown, N. Y., Guest Of Relatives Here

Most of the crowd tonight at the football testimonial dinner to Phil Bridenbaugh will be football fans first, with other sports following. One guest however is not primarily a football fan, but a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan, William Beattie of Cooperstown, N. Y.

Mr. Beattie is the founder of the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, and Cooperstown as you probably know is the birthplace of baseball. There over a century ago, Abner Doubleday, later a general in the Civil War started the game.

Some years ago it was Mr. Beattie's idea that a Hall of Fame should be established for outstanding baseball players and he founded it in his home town. He is on his way to the major league meeting in Chicago, Ill., and is stopping off at New Castle to visit with his niece, and her husband, Captain and Mrs. Roger W. Rowland of Highland avenue.

New Attacks Are Made On United States By Japanese Journals

REVIVE TENSION IN FAR EAST AREA

By PERCY WHITEING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 6.—The Japanese newspaper Kokumin warned the United States today that one billion Asiatics may turn on America if it attempts to "fish in the troubled waters" of the Far East.

The new press attack on the United States revived tension which previously had relaxed as a result of latest developments in Washington.

To Bring Nationals Home

Meanwhile, Japan speeded preparations to bring her nationals home from Hong Kong, Malaya, British Borneo, Singapore and Mexico.

Kokumin published an eight-column article reviewing conditions in Asiatic countries and stating:

"Should the United States pursue its aggressive policy toward Asia by attempting to fish in troubled waters without paying attention to anti-American and anti-British sentiment in the surging subject nations of southeastern and southwestern Asia, as well as the growing demand for racial self-determination, it must be reminded that 1,000,000,000 people of Asia would turn on the United States as irreconcilable foes."

Meanwhile, Japanese officials awaited an "official" indication of the United States' attitude toward Japan's reply to President Roosevelt's request for an explanation of Japanese troop concentrations in French Indo-China.

He was in the engine room when the torpedo struck and when he and other members of the crew ran up on deck, Zapasnik was shocked to see the forward part of the ship—the part that he had just left—blown entirely away.

Zapasnik tells of helping to close the watertight doors on what was left of the ship, thus preventing suction when it sank, and preventing the surviving crew members from being pulled under with the hull.

experience was that he had lost 10 pounds.

Zapasnik felt badly about the fate of Wilton Taylor, Mahoningtown youth who was lost in the sinking. He and Taylor were quite good friends aboard ship and a few days before the accident, Taylor had started to make a game board for Zapasnik.

Taylor, according to Zapasnik, evidently gave his life when he tried to calm and save one of the ship's cooks who had become hysterical on the deck of the boat. Taylor made a brave effort to get the cook over the side and to a life raft to safety. Both Taylor and the cook were lost.

Zapasnik has been granted a 29-day furlough, an additional period being granted the local sailor in order that he could spend more time with his family here. He expects to remain here until sometime after the first of the year.

At the present time, Zapasnik and the other survivors are unassigned, but expect to get ship assignments upon their return to active duty.

Edmund Zapasnik, younger brother of Fred's, and a former Navy man, also returned to New Castle today. Edmund is a resident of Boston, where he is employed.

NEW RECTOR TO BE INSTALLED

Valley and the Clergy of the Diocese of Erie, to attend the Institution Service, for Rev. Griswold.

Vacancy has existed in the rectorship since May 1, when the Rev. Philip C. Pearson accepted a new field of service in the Diocese of Central New York.

During the period of vacancy, the ministerial needs of the Parish have been faithfully administered by the Rev. Charles J. Burton of St. Andrews Episcopal church of this city. Services have also been conducted by visiting ministers and the layreaders of the local parish. Lloyd W. Strayer, senior warden has been in charge, in the absence of the rector.

Comes From Pittsburgh

Rev. Griswold who assumed his duties in the local church, December 1, came from Calvary Episcopal church, Pittsburgh, where he has been for the past two years, as assistant to Rev. Dr. VanEtten and recently, to Rev. Dr. Kinsolving. He was graduated from Hampden Sydney College, in Virginia in 1932.

During his incumbency at Calvary Episcopal church, he has been most active in young people's work, having had charge of the religious activities of the large camp sponsored by the church at Conneaut, O., for the past two summer seasons. The rector is unmarried, and has taken up residence on the second floor of the rectory at 215 East Falls street, which has been renovated to suit his needs.

Indications point to an unusually large attendance Monday night, at the Institution Service and the reception, to welcome the new rector to New Castle. A growing interest has been much in evidence at Trinity Episcopal church.

The reception that will follow the Institution Service, will provide a splendid opportunity for becoming acquainted with Rev. Griswold, and an invitation is extended all desiring to participate.

BRITAIN DECLARES WAR ON HUNGARY, FINLAND, RUMANIA

allies in the war against Russia was received calmly throughout the country.

All newspapers "played down" this news, giving precedence to the fighting on the Russian front and the talks between the United States and Japan.

Several thousand Finns, Hungarians and Rumanians residing in Britain became enemy aliens who are compelled to appear before tribunals. Many of them will be interned.

The war declaration renders the three countries liable to British attack by land, sea and air forces as opportunity permits.

Finland's minister to London, George Gripenberg, prepared to depart after a nine-year stay in London, where he made thousands of friends.

Departure of Gripenberg and his staff automatically will release the former British minister to Helsinki, Gordon Vereker, and his staff, who have been at Lisbon, in Portugal, for some time.

The declarations of war were transmitted through United States diplomatic representatives and at one a. m. the government announced:

"As no satisfactory reply has been received from the Finnish, Hungarian and Rumanian governments to the notes addressed to them last week, communications are being sent to the three governments which will result in the existence of a state of war."

reply to President Roosevelt's inquiries concerning the purpose of increased Japanese troop concentrations in French Indo-China.

Tokyo's reply that the troop movements are intended as a precautionary measure against Chinese forces in neighboring Yunnan Province is regarded as easing the situation.

It is considered to place Japan on record as not contemplating any immediate attack on Thailand.

Threat Not Removed

While the threat to Thailand is not regarded by this government as having been removed by the Japanese statement, nevertheless it is felt that the danger of an immediate attack has been considerably lessened.

Several factors are considered responsible for Tokyo's apparent decision to avoid a showdown in the Pacific at the present time.

First of all, it is felt that Japan does not want war with the United States if it can possibly be avoided. The strong stand taken by the American government is believed to have convinced Tokyo that a move into Thailand at this time would involve a grave risk of a general conflict with this country and the other members of the ABCD united front.

Other Factors

Other factors which are believed to have influenced Tokyo to adopt a conciliatory attitude for the moment include:

1. German reverses in Southern Russia, and the failure of the German army to capture Moscow.

2. Knowledge of the strength of American defenses in the Far East, especially in the Philippines.

3. Arrival of a strong British fleet in Singapore.

4. Realization that the ABCD (America, British, China and the Dutch) powers are united in their determination to resist further Japanese aggression in the Southern Pacific.

5. The improved situation of the British campaign in Libya.

NEW OFFENSIVE DEVELOPING ON SOVIET FRONT

command claimed Red Army counter-attacks on the front defending the capital has resulted in material improvement of the Soviet positions.

The sensational advance by Timoshenko's charging armies on the southern front was reported continuing after the fall of Kulyshovo, the last important point on the Mius river, which flows into the Sea of Azov.

The Red Army newspaper Red Star said Kulyshovo was taken by a Russian column which fought its way down from the north to form a junction with the Timoshenko forces battling westward from Taganrog.

200 Villages Retaken

More than 200 villages on the southern front already have been retaken as a result of Timoshenko's westward sweep from Rostov.

According to the Russian communiqué, fighting raged on the whole front and the Soviets "beat off several furious enemy attacks on a number of sectors."

Around Moscow, it stated, "our position was improved by successful counter-attacks."

(Editor's note: The official Berlin radio announced Nazi forces have launched a powerful new drive in the Volokolamsk and Mozhaisk sectors northwest and west of the capital.)

The chief Soviet counter-blows apparently were struck in the strategic Klin and Volokolamsk areas, north of Moscow. At Mozhaisk and Stalinozorsk, to the south, other Russian smashes drove back the Germans, according to a Soviet radio broadcast.

In addition, Russian authorities claimed Nazi batteries shelling Moscow have been silenced.

The Soviet war bulletin also said 35 German planes had been shot down Thursday against 13 machines lost by the Russians.

On the same day, the high command announced, the Red air force destroyed 65 enemy tanks, several armored cars, 380 motor trucks loaded with troops and supplies, 15 field guns and 145 horse-drawn carts.

In addition, Red air force attacks and dispersed 20 German infantry were declared to have annihilated regiments and 150 cavalymen.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

TRAIN CHILD TO BE INDEPENDENT

It may be a good thing for us parents to ask ourselves what we expect our children to get from their upbringing. Let me suggest something which I believe most of us rather vaguely have in mind.

We want our child to learn independence as early as possible, and prepare himself to make a comfortable livelihood. We want him to be able to avoid dangers, to take care of himself and to learn to make more choices and decisions, and to do his own thinking regardless of the crowd. Our own frailties often hinder him, of course, since we are prone to do many things for him which he could easily do alone, and to choose and think for him nearly always.

When he attempts to think and choose and make decisions he so frequently comes into conflict with us that we, being much older and stronger, often cramp his mental growth and character development. How hard it is for us to guide him wisely, to cultivate in him wholesome restraints without destroying his eagerness to make decisions for himself and to think alone.

Cultivation of Initiative
We certainly desire the child to cultivate initiative, with courage to make plans and carry them through. We desire him to create and to invent. We want him to have a keen imagination so that he can see beyond himself and magnify his immediate experiences. We want him to appreciate the beautiful and enjoy the culture of the ages.

We want him to have a strong body and care to cultivate good health habits and ideals, free of needless fears and worries and emotional disturbances. We want him to be happy. Happiness, indeed, may be a worthy goal, since to be happy is to be healthy physically, mentally, and emotionally, and to be able to live pleasantly with others.

The Spoiled Child
The spoiled and pampered child, who has learned to do as he pleases, who has not developed self-restraint, nor learned to get on well with other persons, who has not a high regard for others' rights and feelings—who in short is not likable—can't be happy.

We want our child to be sympathetic and sensitive to the feelings of others of his age, interested in others, well adjusted to authority, acquiring self-expression, but not hindering self-expression in others, enjoying the awareness of success, self-approval, social approval. We want him to find the place in society in which he can be most useful and most happy.

We want him, moreover, to have a continuous appetite for more knowledge and more diversified experiences.

How smart is your baby or young child? A sheet to help you measure very roughly his degree of development may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp. Please indicate the exact age of your child.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. My child 11½ months of age insists on eating alone with her fingers. She won't allow me to help her with her spoon.
A. Be thankful that she exercises so much self-reliance. Let her alone. After a year or so, wishing to be big, she will be glad to use a spoon.

SANTA CLAUS BEATS THE PRIORITIES

Wars, rumors of wars and priorities are not going to stymie that cheerful old gentleman, Santa Claus, in the very important matter of Christmas tree ornaments.

Defense demands for metals, notably tinfol, and various other articles might have put a serious crimp in the tree ornament industry if it hadn't been on its toes months ago. Millions of substitute articles have been made from plastics and other non-defense materials and according to descriptions are not at all disappointing, as ersatz articles usually are.

Small figures of Santa Claus himself and other toys formerly shipped in large quantities from Germany and Czechoslovakia have disappeared in the smoke of conflict. Manufacturers in this country have also caught up with that situation and this Christmas will be largely "Made in America."

American youngsters, and those who never grow too old to love a shimmering Christmas tree, can feel assured that the merry old saint and his reindeers won't get lost in the blackouts.

IMPROVED ARMY

Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of staff of Army General Headquarters, believes the United States Army could "fight effectively" if "given complete equipment." But he warns that "losses would be unduly heavy and the results of action against an adversary such as the German might not be all that could be desired."

General McNair's observations, amounting to a High Command analysis, came at the conclusion of the First Army maneuvers in the Carolinas—most advanced of the nation-wide series of battle practices which began in May. Once again the analysis stresses the two most important needs of Uncle Sam's growing military establishment—equipment and training.

Of the latter General McNair said:

"Next year I hope we'll have units that will be as different from these we see here as these we see here are different from those we saw last year."

"And that's a very big gap. We have made splendid progress. But the simple fact is you can't perfect units in one year's work and bring them up to the standards of facing anything like the Germans. If we aren't working toward that goal, what are we working toward?"

On the equipment side there still are unhealthy shortages of anti-aircraft and anti-tank weapons, mechanized equipment, motor transport and airplanes, to name major items.

General McNair is markedly more optimistic than he was after the Tennessee maneuvers in June and the Louisiana exercises in September. In that he is joined by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff. Both men cannot speak too highly of the present-day American soldier, his initiative, ingenuity and aggressiveness.

Since the Army—both officers and men—has demonstrated its willingness ever to go forward, regardless of personal sacrifice and hardship, it devolves upon the home—or industrial—front to do likewise.

Hints On Etiquette

After a couple is married and "at home," old friends may drop in, but not for a meal, unless invited. Brides may entertain as soon and as much as they like.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:08.

The best recommendation any person can get is that he is a hard worker and is honest.

Experts must travel a lot and very fast to retain their standing.

The government had added 400 officers to the immigration service to watch the Mexican and Canadian borders. Those are places that needed watching.

Jodie Irvin, 4 of Columbus, O., dreamed that Santa Claus had been drafted into the army. She got so upset that her mother took her to nearby Fort Hayes, where the major assured Jodie that Santa was exempt.

Regardless of initial luck, nearly everybody plays a slot machine until his money is gone.

An alleged expert declares a good husky blackeye will last for two weeks, no matter what is done to cure it. We have had them longer than that and they must have been put on stronger.

The telephone rang. "Hello, is that you, Sam?" queried the voice at the other end. "Yep," replied Sam. "It's me." There was some hesitation on the part of the man on the other end. "Don't sound like you," he said. "Well, it's me alright," insisted Sam. The man at the other end of the wire was now quite convinced. "Say, Sam," he said, "this is Bill—can you lend me ten dollars?" There was a moment of silence, then, "Alright, I'll tell him when he comes in."

Women are so clever at deception that men look like infants when they attempt to compete.

It is said that thousands of musicians are unemployed in the United States. What's really bad is that the wrong ones seem unemployed.

These days the more we read and hear the more confused we get.

We were at the post office the other day when a man stepped up to a window ahead of us.

"Would you like some nice stamped postcards today?" the clerk asked after the man had bought a two-cent stamp.

"Or some air-mail envelopes?" persisted the clerk after the man refused the postcards.

"No, thank you," said the man. "Then how about a money order?"

"Not today."

"Ah, no doubt a postal savings account is the thing you want."

"No, darn it," snorted the man, storming away.

"That was my barber," the clerk explained to us. "I've always looked forward to getting a chance like this."

Self-service in stores is a smart idea. In a cafeteria your eyes always want more than your stomach will hold.

A local bird bought a used car and after taking his gal out for a ride they both walked back.

How to make friends. Tell people they are good looking, and if they are too fat tell them they have "lost some weight."

TIPS FOR MOTORISTS
Speed should be used on the brakes more than on the highways. "If your brain won't work fast, perhaps your brakes will." Some motorists only use the brakes for parking.—N. 28.

Speaking of old-time habits and customs, do you remember how women would have a fit when a woman wore a two-colored dress sooner than six months after her husband died? Folks were very particular in those times, and if a woman made glances at a man within a year after the passing of her husband she was talked about—Aunt Annie.

And there was the draftee from Kansas who was asked if he had any "organic trouble," replied "Nope, I've never been a bit musical."

Now we also have with us the hunter who shoots and runs.

A city and a chorus girl are much alike, 'tis true. A city's built with outskirts, a chorus girl is too.

Good Taste

By R. & P. Patent Office

DISCUSSING DIVORCE

"My friends think I am ridiculously prudish because I will not discuss my divorce proceedings. Don't you think I am right in keeping the details to myself?"—H. D.

Answer: Yes, I do. Women of good taste who are forced to undergo divorce proceedings will confine discussion of any sordid details within their immediate family circles. It is no feather in the cap of a betrayed wife to advertise the fact that she has failed to hold her husband. And if she is the defendant, her predicament is not an occasion for pinning medals on herself. Of course, any announcement of a divorce action affecting any woman will probably cause her acquaintances to flock about her like buzzards. Those clever enough to pump her for her side of the story may be the first to turn the facts against her as soon as they are out of her sight. So whether a wife who is party to a divorce suit be defendant or plaintiff her very best policy will be to maintain a dignified silence regarding the details and to strive to have the trial evidence kept from the public. Otherwise, there is danger from the direction of that element of society that always blames a wife who is a divorce victim as readily as it magnifies her peccadilloes if she is the defendant.

HE HAD HOPES

An acquaintance met an old negro who had served an inconsiderate employer many years. The "boss" had recently died, so his friend said, "Well, Sam, your boss is gone." "Yes, but," old Sam replied, lowering his voice he added, "an' I hopes he's gone what I spees he ain't—maybe."

What has become of the old-fashioned man who started at the bottom and wanted to work up? And the fellow who was always talking about his ship coming in?

They tell a sorry about a woman who returned from a visit "back east," bringing her mother with her for an indefinite stay.

"Didn't I warn you," demanded her husband, "not to bring your mother back with you?"

"Yes," admitted his wife, "that's what she wants to see you about. She read your telegram."

Question: I have been working for my present employer for the past six months. I know he will give me a small bonus at Christmas. Must I give him a gift or will a card do?—Mary.

Answer: Do not give him a Christmas gift. Send a card, addressed to both him and his wife, to their home. While an employer should give some remembrance to his employees, they should not give him a gift, unless they do so as a group or unless there is a personal relationship between him and an individual employee.

Question: I am invited to a 25th wedding anniversary celebration. Should I send a gift? If so, what do you suggest?—M. M.

Answer: Yes, you should send a gift. Since the 25th anniversary is called "Silver," gifts of that metal are very appropriate. These may be: silver vase, picture frame, pencil, card tray, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, etc. If silver is too steep in price for you, you might choose anything else you please.

Latest Lobby Probe May Prove Lively
Lobbying And Confusion Is On Increase
Congressman's Suit Stirs Up Outburst

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6

Lobbying is rampant in Washington, as well as confusion. Congress has started to investigate. It's about the sleazebag such investigation within the memories of present day law-makers, but this is an exceptionally lively one, owing to its intermixture into the emergency situation.

Ex-Congressman Charles West of Ohio really percolated the current outburst by suing to collect his fees from interests for which he claims to have obtained government contracts.

Out-of-town business visitors in the capital undoubtedly do need guides to steer them about among the multiplicity of newly created agencies and it's a legitimate enough service, which has attained plenty of proportions. Lobbying, however, involves "fixing." Some sort of influence is supposed to be exerted by the lobbyist in behalf of his client, and his functions to exert the right kind of it upon the correct officials. It may be political, it may be social and conceivably it could be financial.

A peculiar feature of the latest quiz, and of all those which have preceded it, is that the investigators invariably proceed upon the assumption that it's the lobbyist who's the villain. No attention is paid to the officials, if any, whom he influences. The whole theory is that lobbying is the evil to be probed, not being successfully lobbied.

Small business has an acute interest in the pending inquiry, and so has organized labor.

Little industrialists, who can adapt their plants to defensive and less-lending production, naturally want contracts to assure 'em of priority supplies of raw materials to keep 'em in operation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4

WHETHER war in the Pacific comes or not, throughout this whole Japanese crisis the President and Secretary Hull have given an exhibition of cool firmness that inspires confidence. It is true that neither the people of Japan nor our own want to fight. And if the issues concerned only Japan and the United States, a way out probably would be found and the conflict avoided.

BUT that is not the fact. The fact is that Japan is a full-fledged partner of Hitler's. She has joined the Axis in the movement to upset the order and ownership of the world, and she is being steadily pressed by Hitler, for the furtherance of his own purposes, toward belligerent action with us. One of these purposes is to prevent pressure from us forcing the Japanese out of the Axis; another is the stoppage of American and British reinforcements to Russia by starting a war in the Pacific; a third is, by checking our flow of supplies to England and diverting our attention from the Battle of the Atlantic, to gain back some of the time lost by the determined resistance of the Russians.

At least this is the view of the best-informed men in our State Department. It is their contention that the Pacific crisis directly affects the whole battle—on land, in the air and on the sea, under the sea, in Russia, on the Atlantic, in Africa, and everywhere else. It cannot be considered except as part of the whole struggle. And there is no doubt that that is the way the President and Mr. Hull have been considering it. It seems quite clear that Japan can be permitted no further aggression in the East without strengthening Hitler by giving him time and preventing the concentration of the forces pledged to his destruction, one of which we have now become.

THESE being the facts, it would be the height of national stupidity to (Continued On Page Six)

The World and the Mud Puddles

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT.

When the Roosevelt administration fathered the NRA Bill, a clause was inserted in the Bill—Section 7-A, which provided for collective bargaining between Labor and Capital. That was the outstanding clause of the Recovery Act.

Unquestionably, it was placed there because of an agreement, expressed or understood, between John L. Lewis and Franklin D. Roosevelt, prior to the election in 1932. Mr. Lewis is said to have contributed out of the Miners' Union war chest four hundred thousand dollars to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign that year. It is said that Mr. Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt had an understanding that Mr. Lewis would, in the event of Mr. Roosevelt's election, be given free reign to organize the C. I. O. This collective bargaining clause has become a veritable Frankenstein to the administration.

For some reason Mr. Lewis does not like the President any more and while he is not now the head of the C. I. O., the C. I. O. is compelled to approve Mr. Lewis' actions now and the President is very much embarrassed. He has depended now in three elections upon the Labor vote. Congressmen who have tagged along on the coat tail of the President are likewise embarrassed. Neither the President nor his henchmen in Congress wish to break with the racketeering Labor Leaders.

There is an unmistakable demand from the majority of men and women of this nation, including a great number of Unionized workmen themselves, that something be done, drastically or otherwise, to end this constant turmoil of Strike, Strike, Strike. In the event the trainmen, from the locomotive engineers down, persist in their exorbitant demands for an increase of thirty per cent in their wages, the business of the nation is going to be brought to a standstill.

In the old days in every great industrial establishment there was a Shop Committee. That Shop Committee conferred at regular intervals with the management regarding conditions in the Shop. The Committee might have suggested higher wages; they might have suggested safety devices, but whatever they suggested they were received politely and the result was peace and better shop conditions. That agreement was not forced upon either the workmen or the employers either by any Act of Congress or any State legislation. It was a wise agreement entered into between employer and employees. The truth of that old adage—"That a people that is least governed, is best governed," is being brought home more and more to the people of this country every day. Character needs no degree.

RIGHT

Things right live on. Things that are wholly wrong. None can depend upon.

Girded however strong! Blow down the tallest spires. Shatter a million lives; Soon or late evil tires.

Only the right survives. Power in itself is vain. Save it be rightly used; Soon snaps the toughest chain. Weakened by being abused. Batter at roof and wall. Till all be gone. Even though millions fall. Right will live on.

Time sets all matters right. Time and good men. Truth outwits evil's might. Again and again. Crushed and laid low and burned. Backward far tossed. Truth that has once been learned. Cannot be lost.

HAPPYGRAMS

The Pennsylvania Superior Court has handed down a decision that there is nothing in the law which compels a father to pay his son's way through college.

"It is well known," said the decision, "that there are worthy parents in all parts of the country, with means greater than this appellant, who do not furnish their children with financial assistance necessary to a college education."

One of the fundamentals of education is the building of character. A man who has gained his college education by winning a lawsuit against his father may still lack that one fundamental which has made many men great who never saw the inside of a college.

Character needs no degree.

Governor Will Make Decision On Session Call

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—Gov. Arthur H. James today suggested that the legislative congressional re-apportionment committee give him a written statement to the effect that it is unable to reach an agreement and he will then decide whether to call a special session of the General Assembly.

Advised that House Majority Leader Geo. A. Achteman had stated the bi-partisan committee was virtually deadlocked after 10 weeks of negotiations and that the Democrats would recommend that he call a special session, the Republican chief executive replied:

"Let the committee make a written report to me. I will then consider the possibilities and probabilities of the situation and decide whether a special session is warranted under the circumstances. The people don't want a special session unless they can be assured the legislature will enact a re-apportionment law."

Governor James said the legislators "shirked their responsibility in the first place" when they failed to enact a re-apportionment act reducing from 34 to 33 the state's congressional districts. "Now they (the committee members) are failing in their duty to draw up a plan, he added.

Pearson Street Community Center Plans Winter Program For Evening Activities

Evening recreational activities will be resumed at the Pearson Street Community Center Monday evening, December 8, with a program of guest speakers, registration and the issuing of membership cards.

The building has recently been closed to evening activities to give the leaders of the Recreation Project of the Works Projects Administration an opportunity to plan a long range winter program.

Due to the scarcity of leaders at the present time, the following schedule will be used so that activities at all times will be under supervision. Monday, Wednesday and Friday will include groups over 16 years of age; and Tuesday and Thursday; groups under 16 years of age.

The program for the winter includes guest speakers, moving pictures, classes in costume design, posture and decorating, as well as informal games and ping pong. Mrs. Agnes B. Howley is the county supervisor of the Works Project Administration.

'em shut down and throw their workers out of employment. Furthermore their collective output desired, always provided that they are available. There's an evident official tendency, though, to let contracts to the biggest kind of companies. The peewees' version is that this is because the mastodons out-lobby 'em, being able to pay for expensive talent at it.

The official account is that it's more convenient to deal with a monster industry at a single swipe rather than in detail, with a lot of piecemeal manufacturers. But the scheme, it's explained, is to have the wholesale contractor take care of as much of his order as his plant's equal to, and sub-order the rest from the little fellows.

For one thing, the big boys don't sub-order as generally as is desired. They prefer to keep their business for themselves, even if they're slow with deliveries.

Some of 'em do sub-order though. But how ask the peewees do they do it? Why, the peewees answer themselves, an elephantine concern gets a huge contract from Uncle Sam at a first rate profit and then sub-orders from a bunch of peewees, at a second or third rate profit to the peewee outfit, and scoops the difference into its own coffers. The peewees have to stand for it or they can't get priorities for raw materials, as defensive producers, and consequently can't keep going.

Organized labor's complaint is that it's flim-flammed by the subcontracting process.

Why Labor Objects The unions, as we all know, want governmental contracting done only with licensed shop companies and officialdom, to appease em sticks to that rule, not 100 per cent, but pretty strictly.

Yes, but, say union spokesmen a whole of an industry, operating on a closed shop basis, vets a contract, and then sub-contracts with a swarm of open shop little critters—open shopness being the essential reason, argue the unionists—because the minnows can afford to let the leviathans assimilate more than their fair share of the profits. Not that the minnows like to acquiesce, but they must, or quit altogether.

The contention is that superior lobbying is what gives big business its alleged stranglehold on the situation.

The lobbyists, though, are the cusses the minnows are on the trail of not lobby-sized officialdom allow Japan to go her aggressive way unchecked. To do that would be to weaken our own effort to crush Hitler. And it would increase the threat to our safety. We not only have to be willing to fight in the Pacific but ready to fight. Beyond a doubt, Japan knows now that we are both. As to the effect upon the final outcome, of active warfare in the Pacific between Japan on one side and the combined forces of Britain and America on the other, there are two opinions. As pointed out, one is that it would advantage Hitler by giving him time, dividing the forces against him and keeping his ally in the Axis.

The Great Game Of Politics

THE other opinion is that it not only would make the ultimate defeat of Hitler more certain but would greatly shorten the war. In fact, it is claimed that the forcing of Japan out of the Axis is the surest road to victory and that a great opportunity will be lost if we do not take it. The argument to sustain this point of view is clear and convincing. Partially, it was publicly expressed the other day by Mr. Hugh Grant, recently resigned American Minister to Thailand. He is privately affirmed by various diplomats and War Department officials in Washington.

BRIEFLY, it is this: With superior naval and air forces we would be able to defeat Japan very decisively within three months. Her physical and economical vulnerability makes it impossible for her to last longer against all-out American and British force. Once Japan is definitely eliminated, Hitler's end is hastened and assured. Such elimination would strengthen every one of the active forces against him. It would add to the military strength of Russia by making it unnecessary for her to maintain an Eastern army to guard against sudden Japanese hostility.

FURTHERMORE, it would enable the British and Americans to concentrate upon sweeping Hitler from the sea, in the Atlantic, and from the air in Europe. It would toughen the determination of Turkey. It would incline every neutral to the anti-Hitler side. It would stiffen resistance in the conquered countries. Above all, the psychological effect would be very great. It would be shattering to the Nazis and stimulating to the opposition. It would certainly become clear to the German army and to the German people that Germany had not a friend left in the world; that the whole globe was against her; that there was no way to win; and defeat was inevitable.

IT is impossible to overestimate the effect of such feeling upon the German people. That they would crack and crack quickly and badly, is the confident belief of a good many here qualified to express a judgment. These advocate action. They think that we should give Japan a brief period to get out of the Axis and, if she refuses, then go in and eliminate her. They are not "warmongers." They urge this course not because they want war but because it seems the best way of quickly ending the war in the only way it can be ended—and that is by the crushing of Hitler. And they do not want to miss the opportunity of doing it with the least possible delay.

Brother-In-Law Of Local Man Is Prisoner Of War

Relative Of Zygmunt Kubinski, Of This City, Was Officer In Polish Army

Once an officer of the Polish army, Wladyslaw Marciniak, age 45, who is a brother-in-law of Zygmunt Kubinski of 11 West Madison avenue, is now a prisoner of war in a German concentration camp.

Mr. Kubinski receives a post card from his brother-in-law about every two months and waits anxiously to hear from him. Mr. and Mrs. Kubinski try to read the writer's intended meaning into his closely censored cards. It takes from four to six weeks for a card to reach the local people from the German camp.

Although Mr. Kubinski does not know the name of the present army camp in which his brother-in-law is a prisoner, he knows that it is located about 600 miles from the Polish border in Germany.

In a communication received here this week Mr. Marciniak stated that he was preparing to spend his third winter in the concentration camp. Mr. and Mrs. Kubinski were in Poland in 1936 to visit the Marciniak family and they are quite familiar with the situation there, and watch the news dispatches telling of bombings in that country with sorrow.

Hermit Is Killed After Murdering Farmer On Road

(International News Service)

SCHWENKVILLE, Pa., Dec. 6.—Pennsylvania authorities today wrote finish to the rampaging activities of "Old Bill" Ludwig, 55-year-old hermit and former insane asylum inmate, who was shot and killed just a few hours after murdering Farmer George Kulp, 63, on a country road one mile from here. Ludwig, who police said went on periodic rampages, was cornered by a posse in his backwoods shack between Spring Mount and Delphi. Authorities said they attempted to persuade Ludwig to come down from a porch, and that they fired when he lunged to get down out of sight. He died almost instantly. The shooting began when Ludwig pumped four shots into Kulp at the climax of a quarrel. When police arrived at the scene they were fired upon from a nearby woods, and reinforcements were sent for. Two hunters reported they too had been fired upon. The day before, police declared, orders were sent out to "pick up Ludwig" and commit him in the Norris town asylum because neighbors had warned he was "acting up" again. Ludwig terrorized the same district 13 years ago and shot a state motor police corporal before being committed the first time.

Fireworks Tonight On Public Square

Not Belated Fourth Celebration—Will Seek To Chase Birds

Public Square will be the scene of a pyrotechnical display at 10 o'clock tonight but it won't be a Fourth of July celebration. Instead when the Roman candles are touched off and balls of fire shoot through trees it will be for the purpose of seeking to rid the trees of an army of sparrows which seek shelter nightly, much to the chagrin of pedestrians who use the sidewalks on the square.

Owen Fox, the city forester, illuminated red lights several nights ago but the flares did not scare the sparrows. So, tonight at 10 o'clock, armed with a lot of Roman candles, Fox will try to rid the square of the birds.

Seniors Present Mystery-Comedy

Excellent Production Is Seen By Crowd At Lincoln Auditorium

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6.—"Midnight," a mystery-comedy, was presented last night at the Lincoln auditorium by a well cast group of Ellwood City high school seniors and won the applause of the large crowd of spectators. The mystery angle aided by the kind of comedy at which high school students are at their best presented an interesting diversion.

The story—It is new year's eve. The Greenwood house is deserted, supposedly. But first a flashlight beams and then goes out. A man disappears up the stairs. They Claire (Beverly Groden) and Bob (Wilbur Vogler) stumble into the dark room on a treasure hunt. Before long, the room begins to take on the aspects of Grand Central station, more people walk in and out of the place, appear and disappear, sometimes mysteriously, and sometimes for logical reasons.

Miss Greenwood (Averel Adams) has come out with her maid (Marcia Silverblatt) and her chauffeur (Richard McCarter) to escape the noisy celebration in the city. Kate (Phyllis Barkley) and Eddie (Jack Conway) have come on a ghost watch to get a story for the paper. Joe Howard (Herbert Kraus) goes and comes out of a bookcase which leads into a secret room. When Mr. Smith (Howard Breneman) turns up carrying an apparently unconscious Paula (Rita Battifocchi), there is no doubt about—something zany is going on.

Mr. Harman (Robert Randolph) who has always been a faithful lawyer and friend, starts creeping around with a gun and gets in a tangle with Joe, he looks a bit doubtful. Mr. Smith says he is a G-man, but Paula finds out he's a head of a spy ring. The secret room turns out to be two secret rooms with a counterfeiting press being a cover-up for a government espionage experiment. Eddie, the cameraman, proves to be the real G-man and, of course, captures Mr. Smith, the spy ring leader, just as Joe and his helper (Ed. McHaffey) conclude the successful experiment, which will provide a fortune for the Greenwood family.

There was no leading role with each character having an equally important part in the play, and each one portrayed their varied parts in a splendid manner.

Richard McCarter as the "scared" chauffeur, really "stole the show" as he enacted his exceptionally humorous role in a natural manner. Especially fine characterizations were given by Mildred Edelman as the eccentric, mysterious housekeeper and Robert Randolph as the suspicious lawyer.

The presentation was directed by Miss Elizabeth McKnight, who maintained her enviable record in turning out successful high school plays.

The high school orchestra under the direction of Paul Winter entertained the audience with appropriate selections preceding the play.

The cast follows: Samuel Hardman—Robert Randolph. Claire Greenwood—Beverly Groden.

Ross, Lee And Melichar Lead Offensive Attack In Opening Game

PLAY ALUMNI ON TUESDAY EVENING

Unleashing an offensive attack that netted them 20 field goals, the New Castle basketball team began its 1941-42 season at George Washington High floor last night by defeating Youngstown South 42 to 12.

New Castle led the entire time. Ross broke the ice in the first several seconds with a field goal and the onslaught began. The end of the first period found the New Castle High team leading 8 to 2. Coopersmith had the only two points that South High could garner. Ross, Lee, Zukowsky and Cooper figured in the New Castle scoring.

Big First Half Lead

New Castle took a commanding lead at the start of the second period, with Melichar and Lee dumping in points to run the count to 11 to 2. Naples had the only field goal allotted the visitors in the second period.

The score at the end of the first half was 21 to 4. During the period Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent Wilbur Young and Joe Clazza into the lineup, Melichar having replaced Lee at the start of the period.

New Castle High did not let up on its offensive one bit in the third period and led at the conclusion of the session by a 34 to 10 count. Graves and Molena did the young town scoring in the period. For New Castle it was Ross, Cooper, Parou, Zukowsky and Lee figuring in the scoring.

At the start of the final period Coach Bridenbaugh sent in his entire second team, consisting of Clazza and Melichar at the forwards, Young at center and Burris and Stewart at the guards and the reserves kept up the blistering attack by garnering eight more points and holding the Ohioans to two points, a field goal by Culp, a substitute.

Play Alumni Tuesday

Clazza and Melichar figured prominently in the New Castle scoring.

Neither team did so hot at the foul line, New Castle making 2 out of 12, and Youngstown 2 out of 14. New Castle's next game is next Tuesday evening when the New Castle High Alumni will be met at the Washington High gym.

Santa Anita Race Saturday, March 7

Whirlaway, Alsab And Midland Top New Record Total Of 111 Nominations

(International News Service) SANTA ANITA, Calif., Dec. 6.—A great prospective field and a new record total of 111 nominations, topped by Whirlaway, Alsab and Midland, were revealed today in the complete list of horses named for renewal of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap on March 7.

The previous high was 107 in 1939, the year Kayak II, now on the sidelines with a slight tendon bow, won the world's richest race.

Bay View Out

Chaloned, Market Wise, Picior, Our Boots, Porter's Cap, Meisen, and Starator are all in the list but Bay View, which upset Midland's apparent last winter, is missing. The front-running Bay View has not quite been the same since that spectacular score.

L. B. Mayer, who is building an impressive racing and breeding establishment, named 14, which is believed to be the largest number of nominations for an all-age stake in the history of racing. Mayer named six American breeds, four from Europe, three from Australia and one from the Argentine.

Whirlaway, with earnings of $349,661 (just $88,069 behind Seabiscuit's all-time record) and winner of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont "triple crown," will probably draw top weight when Racing Secretary Webb Everett "carves out his impost" December 15.

There are so many stakes winners in the nominations, so many sound and young threats, that the coming renewal of the "hundred grander" seems destined to become the greatest of them all.

TRAINERS BAN "STARCHY" FOODS FOR LES, RUSS

When Russell Baxter and Lester Leisure, rival middleweights, place their brogans beneath the family table Sunday noon, their eyes will not focus on any fattening edibles because trainers for both ooxers want them below 160 pounds when they climb through the Arena rings next Wednesday night.

Some fighters have been known to have their way out of fistic glory but not Les nor Russ. They're youthful with a world of opportunity in front of them and according to the gladiators they do not intend to let their teeth dig their pugilistic graves.

Both boys are "right" when they weigh between 155 and 160. At a heavier weight they are "loggy"—phlegmatic and solid belts to the midriff may soon dissipate their wind. A roll of inside fat can cause more trouble than an outside layer.

Reaching Razor-Like Edge In fact both have trained so diligently they're "spitting cotton" and their temperaments are easily roughened, a sure sign of condition. They intend to keep this way through strenuous training until Tuesday light work will be the order and then they'll rest until bell time.

The Denny Cunningham-Billy Reale 175-pound scrap, carded as a semi-final, is also causing talk, likewise the Baby Face Leisure vs. Frankie Cody 133-pound setto. Tommy Brock, who has a rugged, smart Jackie Burke in front of him at 145 and Pete Misto will box Johnny Watson at 155.

Westminster college Art Wadner will meet another newcomer to the ring in Vic Reghetti at 150. Roy Swank will box Jimmy Gregan, another newcomer at 138, and fans will get a chance to Foo Yee, a Chinaman, in action as soon as Moe Harvey crawls into the ring. They are 112-pounders.

Every division in pugilism excepting a bantamweight featherweight and heavyweight, will be represented on the docket.

New Wilmington High school basketball team had a substitute guard in the game at Sandy Lake last night and in the final second of play with the Lakers leading 16 to 15, this young man, Jim Dunleavy, shot the winning field goal from the center of the court, giving his mates a 17 to 16 decision.

The half ended 8 to 7 with the College Towners ahead. Cathcart, with nine of the points, led the scoring for the evening. Next Friday night Sandy Lake will play a return engagement at New Wilmington.

FAIR or FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 6.—From the bushes to major league kingdoms and back again to the huckleberry circuits might be as good a way as any to start a story by Rogers Hornsby, one of the greatest ball players that ever hit the big time. As a hitter he was without a peer in his day, especially during those years when he was piloting the St. Louis Cardinals to pennants. He made the major league rounds, with ups and downs, and next season will be back down in Texas from whence he came originally. He will manage the Port Worth club.

Hornsby's career in the major leagues—for the benefit of those who come in late—epitomized the ball player's idea of Utopia. He was a great ball player and a great manager and he got the adulation due him. There were some tough spots in his career, too, but they were more than off-set by the heights he attained. One of the things that nobody ever would or ever will take away from him is that he stands among the smartest men ever to dig a spike in that infield. How he failed to hold jobs and why is still another story.

Hornsby Once Tops The point I seem to be trying to get around to by circuitous route is that he is among the three or four baseball people that are picked out intermittently for opinions. The rest are in the majors, but we will always be seeking out Hornsby no matter how far he is buried in the minors because, in the first place he knows baseball and in the second he expresses himself candidly and well.

I don't know for sure what brought all this on, except that we talked here today about baseball and in a half hour with him you come to realize that he knows as much baseball as any man. He has the added advantage of not only knowing baseball, but of being able to back it by his own hitting and managing in the majors. He knows the score, as they say.

We were just gabbing, but out of a casual conversation came two or three points of interest at this particular time, one being that there must be fewer 400 hitters in the majors today than there was back in the old days when he was hitting 400 himself because ball players are different. They encounter too many distractions and they don't play as much as they used to.

Not So Plentiful Briefly, ball players are not as good Americans many numbers as they once were.

Golf, the automobiles, college educations, the lure of big money elsewhere, and dozen of other things are distracting them today," Hornsby said. "It wasn't that way in my time back in Texas and later in the majors."

And here is one that is almost inconceivable considering the loyalty that former major stars hold for the league in which they played. An American leaguer everlastingly is loyal to the American and the National leaguers will argue about their circuit. But not Hornsby. As a 400 hitter for the Cardinals, winner of pennants and manager of clubs all over the circuit he ought to think his own league is tops. That's the way other old-timers may feel.

But if Hornsby had his choice of four ball players in the game today around whom to build a club, he would take them from the American. He wouldn't get around to the National until he got back much beyond the first four.

Would Pick Joe

"I was starting out today," he said, "and had my choice of any four players in the game I would take Joe Di Maggio first. Then I'd take Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, then Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees and finally Bob Feller of the Indians. I do all right with them as starters."

Sure Dickey is a little old as catchers go but Hornsby still would take him over any other catcher in the game today.

In Di Maggio and Williams he would have the two best hitting outfielders of the day and in Feller the best pitcher to go along with Old Willie.

"I'd like to start over with those four and take my chances with the rest," Hornsby said a little wistfully.

Market Uptrend Resumed Today

Numerous Issues Make Slight Gains During Morning Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—The stock market resumed its uptrend in active trading today.

Most issues scored slight gains, except for rails. There were no advances of a point or more.

J. I. Case and Union Carbide advanced a point each. American Telephone was higher. Pure Oil hit a new high in a further advance in petroleum shares.

Uncertainty over how the carriers would fare in a drive for higher rates was a factor in sluggishness of the rails. Atchison was off nearly a point.

Crucible gained almost a point in a mixed market for steel shares. Motors were somewhat better, and coppers firm. Aviations, rubbers and utility shares were mixed. Reynolds Tobacco B gained almost a point.

Building shares scored small gains. Commodities were lower. Cotton dropped close to $1 a bale. Grains were upset by a fall of over 2 cents in soy beans.

Bonds were steady. Domestic bonds moved narrowly and in the government list tax exemptions were in over-counter trading while the taxable, with the exception of the new issues, were easy.

Although some issues lagged, the curb market generally was firm but price changes generally were limited to fractional proportions.

operations," the communique declared.

Recapture Ground
"As the result of operations last night, British infantry units recaptured the little ground remaining in enemy hands at Ed Duda.

"South of Ed Duda, our artillery, machine guns and aircraft attacked an enemy column composed of 400 infantry troops and 150 motorized vehicles.

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, who scattered in confusion.

"Our artillery engaged another column of infantry and transport which was attempting to move westward along the escarpment at Ed Duda, inflicting severe casualties.

SHIELDS GIVEN COMMENDATION

buted in a long way to the safety of the ship and is worthy of special meritorious commendation.

Shields, who received a leave of absence as a city police sergeant, weighs 28 pounds less now than when he left the city when called by the navy, and has been in service since February 17, 1941. He reported at the Philadelphia navy yard and was sent to Key West, Fla., under-water sound school.

Assigned To Greer.

April 18, he was assigned to and reported on the Greer and as the senior man took charge of the under-water sound equipment. In June he was sent back to the Key West school to materiel school (maintenance and repair of radio and under-water sound school) for another period of training.

August 17 he was again assigned to the Greer, carrying mail between the United States and Iceland.

The Greer was 150 miles off Iceland and alone on September 4, 7-40 a. m. English time, when a German U-boat was detected and, at 12:40 p. m., the German submarine fired two torpedoes. One went beneath the ship and continued on the port side. The other torpedo was seen directly ahead and the commander ordered full speed ahead and hard right rudder. The ship swung to the right and the torpedo went along the port side, 20 yards away from the ship.

The under-water sound operator, Shields, kept ranging on the submarine. "We swung the ship and went to the place where the submarine had discharged the torpedoes and dropped depth charges from the racks and the Y-gun.

"We looked the area over for evidence of the submarine and decided that it had left. The Greer then left the scene of attack after several hours of search.

Sub Again Detected

"At six p. m. I got another range on the submarine. It was coming in fast, right off the bow. We made another attack and dropped several depth charges and at seven p. m. it was decided the submarine had left. We then continued on our way to Iceland. That day I was on duty 12 hours."

Shields stated that he has been to Iceland several times and explained that Reykjavik, capital, means Smoke T.V.

Shields set foot on Iceland the first time, at 9 p. m. English time, September 5, the day following the attack. He said the weather there was fine and said the Icelanders dress somewhat in the same fashion as Americans. He said that one day he imagined he was entering a city in the U. S. He said the people mostly have light complexions and blonde hair.

He said that he observed that the girls of Iceland would dance with American sailors and soldiers but not "date" them. He said that the people are cordial. He purchased ice cream and souvenirs in the Iceland capital.

Shields stated that he has made several trips and that the Northern Lights are a beautiful spectacle to witness. He said also that darkness falls in the Iceland region at 2:30 p. m. and remains dark until 10:30 a. m., there being only about four hours of daylight. When he made the first voyage darkness did not fall until 10 p. m. and daylight arrived at 2 a. m.

At this time of year it is not unusual to see waves 50 feet high in the Atlantic ocean.

Shields also said that from the minute the Greer starts out every man is on the alert.

He appears in the pink of condition and will report back to his ship after a brief furlough.

Jail and Deportation

Rene Belbenoit

French fugitive from Devil's Island and author of "Dry Guillotine," Rene Belbenoit was sentenced in Brownsville, Tex., to fifteen months in prison and deportation, after pleading guilty to returning to the U. S. illegally. Deported in 1940, he was charged with swimming the Rio Grande in 1941 to return to his country.

BIRTHDAYS of FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopedia Britannica)

DECEMBER 3

1853—John Sington Mosby, soldier, at Edgewood, Va. In 1863, with Gen. J. E. B. Stuart's permission, he raised and equipped a force of irregulars. On the night of March 8, 1863, with about 30 men, he penetrated the Federal lines at Fairfax court house and took three prisoners, including Brigadier-General Edwin H. Stoughton. He became famous for other similar exploits, and was regarded in the North as a guerilla.

1859—Edward Hugh Sothorn, actor, at New Orleans. Three of his greatest roles were Hamlet, Richard Lovelace and Villon in "If I Were King". In 1904 he first appeared with Julia Marlowe in "Romeo and Juliet" at Chicago. They played together almost continuously for many years.

1863—Charles Martin Hall, inventor, at Thompson, O. While still at college he became interested in the problem of devising a cheap process for the production of aluminum. Eight months after his graduation he invented the electrolytic process, which has made aluminum a common article of commerce.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Winter nights are longer than those in summer.

Is this so that people may get more sleep?

The severe winter months call for more restorative sleep.

During sleep the tissues are rebuilt.

Nerves, blood, muscles, brain, heart—all are slowed down.

The body is being "re-charged" during the sleeping process.

No one, regardless of health, can afford to miss sleep.

To children, sleep is as necessary as food.

In the first year, the infant needs 14 to 16 hours of sleep.

The next two years he needs 13 to 14 hours of sleep.

The sleep requirement decreases up to the sixteenth year.

Beyond that, all persons need 8 hours of sound sleep a day.
